

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates, in general, to surgical instruments for collecting and/or removing tissue (or other specimens taken from a body) and, more particularly, to endoscopic and/or laparoscopic surgical instruments such as pouches or specimen retrieval bags for the removal of tissue or other specimens, as indicated above, through a small incision.